Glossary

- Annualised return: The annualised return is the average amount of money earned by an investment each year over a given period of time. This is calculated as a geometric average, showing what an investor would earn if the annual return was compounded.
- Annualised volatility: The rate at which the price of a fund increases or decreases for a given set of returns. It is measured by calculating the standard deviation of the fund's monthly returns.
- Sharpe ratio: A measure of calculating risk-adjusted return. The Sharpe ratio is the average return earned in excess of the risk-free rate per unit of volatility. The higher the Sharpe ratio the better the risk-adjusted return.
- Correlation: A measure of the relationship between changes in the portfolio and the referenced indices through time.
- Leverage: An investment manager can take on exposures to markets that are greater than the value of the fund. When investing via futures, this is because only a small part of the value of the contract needs to be posted as margin. When investments are made via futures, a small proportion of a contract's value is paid to a central counterparty to guard against the risk of default. This is known as 'margin' and is maintained by the investor as the contract rises and falls in value.
- Synthetic Risk & Reward Indication (SRRI): A measure of the overall risk and reward of a fund. The SRRI is presented as a numerical value on a scale of 1 to 7 where 1 is the lowest risk and 7 is the highest. It is based on the standard deviation of the monthly returns of the fund over the past five years. Investors should be aware the indicator is based on historical data and may not be a reliable indication of the future risk profile of the fund. The lowest category does not mean risk free.
- Ongoing charge figure: A measure of the annual cost to invest in the fund. It includes the management fee along with other operating costs.

4. Reference assets include Bloomberg Global Aggregate Index; MSCI World Index; S&P GSCI Index and; US Dollar Index.
5. Risk statistics are shown as the average throughout the month.
6. Leverage figures are shown as the average throughout the period. Fixed income leverage is calculated by multiplying the notional value by the ratio of the modified duration of the contract to the modified duration of a 10-year T-note. For currencies, exposure is netted when there are two contracts involving the same currency with opposing exposure. This includes FX derivative contracts but not indirect exposure (e.g., assets priced in dollars). Netting may be applied where multiple instruments have identical but opposing underlying exposure.
7. When calculating the portfolio gross leverage, the contribution from currency markets is divided by two to avoid double-counting. The references to Winton leverage and UCITS leverage refer to different methodologies used to calculate the fund's leverage. The calculation of the UCITS leverage using the commitment method, defines leverage as the sum of notional values of the instruments in the portfolio.
8. The risk and reward is calculated using historical data which may not be a reliable indicator of the Fund's future risk. The risk and reward category may shift over time and is not a target or guarantee. The lowest category (i.e. Category 1) does not mean a risk-free investment. The Fund is in Category 5 because of the high range and frequency of price movements (volatility) of the underlying investments referenced by the fund.
